COLE IN CHICAGO.

He Gets After the Sinners With a Hot Stick and They Go to the Altar in Crowds.

The following from the Chicago Inter Ocean of the 25th inst. will be read with interest by friends of Evangelist Cole in this city.

"A campaign against the 'power of darkness' was begun by Major Cole, the Michigan evangelist, in the Western Avenue Methodist church last night, and for the initial onslaught it was a glorious victory. The major isn't an eloquent speaker, but he has a way of putting things that carries conviction. He doesn't preach, but just confidentially tells 'he old, old story' in plain Anglo-Saxon words that can't be misunderstood by any one. There was a large audience out to hear him last night, 1,200 or 1,500 people, and from the warmth, vigor and frequency of the 'amen's,' 'allelujah's' and other expressions of religious feeling, the Western Avenue congregation is in a fair way to experience a wonderful revival.

The services began with a song service, and then Dr. Mandeville read the first psalm, and upon this psalm the Major based his discourse.

There were two things mentioned in the psalm—success and defeat. The man who followed God and His word was sure to prosper, but the wicked were like the chaff before the wind. The devil made men believe that riches and power were success, but there was no real success without God. The foundation of the solid rock of Jesus Christ. At the time of the death of W. H. Vanderbilt there was great excitement on Wall street, and intense anxiety to know what he did with his wealth. It meant millions of loss or gain to many men. One man was reported as knowing, and a great crowd gathered around in eager haste to hear, and when all were breathlessly silent the man who possessed the wonderful secret informed them that 'he left it.' So must every one. If money was all Vanderbilt had he died poor and his life was not a success. Spending and winning amounted to nothing unless a man had made his peace with God. Sin was like a great cancer that had grown on the body of a man. It threatened to kill him, but the doctors cut it out and the man was well. Christ was the physician, and He alone would cleanse the soul from the horrible cancer—sin. This was a matter of health or hell, success or failure. A young man in the prime of life was stricken down with disease and there was little hope of his recovery. Major Cole was holding meetings near by, and the invalid anxious mother and sisters urged him to attend the meetings, but he refused, saying he didn't believe in such nonsense. Finally the Major was sent for to plead with the obdurate son and brother. The evangelist went into the young man's room and the mother and sister stayed on the outside to pray. At first the invalid languished and had nothing to say regarding his soul's welfare. His heart was finally touched, however, and his mother and sister fairly shouted with joy. Inside of a week the young man died acknowledging the Lord Jesus. The father was of a worldly mind and more obdurate than the son had been. Pleading had no effect on him. The day for the funeral came and the father went in to take a last fond look at his only son, when he fell senseless to the floor and expired in a few hours, a hardened sinner. No man knew at what moment he might die. 'Now is the accepted time; now is the day of salvation.'

An invitation was extended to all who felt an interest in their soul's welfare to come up to the altar, when Major Cole concluded, and while the audience sang, 'Christ Receiveth Sinful Men,' a large number responded to the call. So great was the press for the altar by the penitents that the front row of seats was vacated for them. Many shed tears while others shouted for joy and when the time came for the benediction there was a confusion of conversions and many names that many in whom an interest had been awakened.

Stopped the Parades.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Longstreet the medicine advertising man, accompanied by his brass band marched up Ohio street throwing silver coin in the streets. He was accompanied by a surging brawling mob of several hundred men and boys, which, together with the blare of the band scared the horses on the street within two inches of eternity. Between Third and Fourth a team became frantic with fright and tore its harness off. It required two or three strong men to prevent the horses from madly dashing through the frightened crowd. Mayor Crawford at once issued an order strictly prohibiting another parade of the kind on the street and dispatched officer Kelley to Dr. Longstreet's office to notify him of the order. It was fun for the boys but almost death to everybody else.

CAPITAL CULLINGS.

Doings at Jefferson—The Lawmakers in a Tilt Over Beef—Personal Points.

Jefferson City, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The senate was not in session to-day, that body having adjourned yesterday until Monday at 2 o'clock, it being the leisure hour of the law making machine and also more advanced in its work as well.

The house met at 9:30 o'clock, as usual, with a slim attendance, however, many of the representatives having gone home to spend Saturday and Sunday.

Nearly the entire morning was consumed in the house in a wrangle over the appointment of a committee. The day before, in pursuance of a joint resolution, the speaker announced a committee to consult with the Kansas legislature regarding beef combines. The committee was composed entirely of lawyers. This gave dissatisfaction to the agricultural members and Mr. Newberry offered a resolution that three new members be added to the committee. Mr. Lupton offered a substitute that four new members be added, to be two farmers and two stockmen. This created a lengthy discussion. Some funny remarks were indulged in by the lawyers and farmers of the house. The resolution and substitute were both defeated and the vote of yesterday, by which the speaker appointed the committee to investigate the beef combines, was rescinded. This put the matter back to the beginning and a resolution was passed instructing the speaker to appoint a committee to consist of two lawyers and three farmers or stockmen.

After this tilt Mr. Flannigan offered a resolution regarding the election contest from Clark county, which was made a special order for Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

A number of engrossed bills were reported, and a dispute then arose over the disposition of a bill—whether it should be referred to the committee on penitentiary or the committee on labor. It was finally referred to the committee on penitentiary, after a lengthy squabble, in which politics figured somewhat.

Bills were introduced to-day as follows: By Mr. Warner: An act to convict and punish tramps.

By Mr. Madra: An act to provide relief for employees injured while in the service of their employers.

By Mr. Dunn: An act to appropriate money to pay the salaries of the civil officers of the state of Missouri for the year 1889 and 1890.

By Mr. Dunn: An act to appropriate money for the pay of members and contingent expenses of the thirty-fifth general assembly of Missouri.

The speaker announced the following as the committee from the house to confer with the Kansas legislature concerning beef 'trusts and combines': Messrs. Young, Shaw, Clark of Audrain, Tuttle and Prather. Of these the first two named are lawyers and the others farmers.

The house then adjourned to Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

CAPITAL NOTES.

—The appointment of Mr. Tuttle upon the committee to confer with the Kansas legislature was a merited honor, and a recognition of first-class ability.

—The following notaries public were appointed to-day: Allen M. Greer, Johnson county; W. C. Hastain, Cedar county; Lucius Lampkin, Bates county; C. B. Littlefield, Johnson county.

—Governor Francis to-day pardoned John W. Dickson, who was sentenced at the October term of circuit court in Taney county for a term of three years for grand larceny, in the penitentiary. It was granted on account of sickness.

—Representative Shaw, of Ste Genevieve, is accorded the honor of being the handsomest member of the house. Not only is he handsome, but one of the ablest, most gallant, courteous and genial gentlemen upon the floor.

—Hon. W. F. Johnson, of Cooper, is looking after the interests of the boys' reform school at Boonville, on which he keeps a vigilant eye. They could not be in better hands. He is one of the active young members of the house.

—Hon. W. O. L. Jewett has in charge the newspaper legislation recommended by the Missouri Press association at its last meeting. The association could not have intrusted its affairs to able hands. Mr. Jewett is one of the sensible, able, influential members of the house. He is now in St. Louis, assisting in the investigation of the insurance department.

—Mr. Tuttle, of Pettis, made his first speech in the house yesterday. It was on the contested election case of Cherry against Spangler, from Clarke county. Mr. Tuttle's remarks were clear, forcible and telling. He is a member of the election committee and knew what he was speaking of. He will soon be recognized as one of the ablest speakers of the house.

—Articles of incorporation were filed to-day in the office of the secretary of state, as follows: Dameron Hunting and Fishing club, of St. Louis; E. E. Menges Sporting Goods company, of Kansas City, with a capital stock of $10,000.00; Kansas City Building and Trade Exchange company, of Kansas City, with a capital stock of $100,000; Midland Transfer company, of Kansas City, with a capital stock of $10,000.

—A Baltimore negro who emigrated to Liberia years ago ordered a quantity of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, stating that he didn't like to be without it.

J. F. Meeds, U. S. L. H. keeper, Fort Carroll, Md., says, 'Salvation Oil cured me of rheumatism.'

—Minter Bros. will have on sale this week the latest styles in satens.

They Will 'Spate.

The lawyers of the city have arranged for another debate to be held at Smith's hall, Thursday evening, February 21. Question, 'Resolved, That money has a greater influence than love.' The chief disoutants are Messrs Lamm and Bridges, assisted by the rest of the legal fraternity. It will be the most novel entertainment of the season, and immensely taking.

A Narrow Escape.

After the burial of Miss Tesman at Union cemetery yesterday afternoon and as the carriages were leaving the cemetery, the team drawing the carriage containing Mr. Frank Thiss and his mother and sister, became frightened. The driver jumped from the seat and the vehicle ran into a ditch, when Mr. Thiss, who sprang from the carriage, caught and held them. The driver, who belonged to Offield's stables, was discharged.

SERVED THEM RIGHT.

An East Sedalia Woman Shoots At Unwelcome Caller.

Mrs. Love lives at the corner of East Third and Marvin streets. She is the wife of a man named Love, who is afflicted with a cancer and who has deserted her. She is an honest woman and earns a humble living by daily labor, such as she can obtain among the families in the neighborhood. For several weeks she has been disturbed frequently at night by roughs and hoodlums knocking at her door and seeking admission. Night before last two young men, well-known in East Sedalia, one of them a fireman and the other a brakeman on the middle division of the Missouri Pacific, knocked at her door and when she told them to leave, they burst the door in and entered the room. Mrs. Love was prepared for them, however, and the sight of a revolver pointed in their faces made them conclude very suddenly that they had entered the wrong pew. They turned and fled, and as they reached the door, Mrs. Love fired, but unfortunately missed them. As they reached the street she fired a second shot without effect. Yesterday morning she made complaint and a warrant was placed in the hands of Officer Laird for the apprehension of the scoundrels. They have, however, kept very shady so far. Mrs. Love, who does not desire notoriety, said yesterday that she would not push the prosecution if they would let her alone, but it is likely that they will get a taste of law, as they should have had a taste of cold lead.

The Day and the Weather.

One hundred and twenty-six years ago to-day Canada became annexed to Great Britain by right of conquest and treaty. The time is fast approaching when Canada will become an integral portion of the great American Republic.

By the way, Queen Victoria was married to Prince Albert just forty-nine years ago to-day. How the century revolves!

Last night, about the winking hour when grave-yards yawn, the snow began to fall in soft, feathery flakes, but soon melted into tears. At this writing 2 a. m. the weather is flickering between smiles and tears. The indications for to-day are fair, warmer winds, becoming southerly.

Annual Entertainment.

The annual entertainment of the Congregational church will be held next Wednesday, February 13th, and will consist of music and eloquentary recitations, reports, election of officers, etc. Everybody welcome.

RESPITED.

The Ozark Bald Knobber's Life Lengthened by Governor Francis.

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Governor Francis has granted a respite of sixty days to William Walker, the leader of the Bald Knobbers who were under sentence to hang at Ozark, on February 15th.

The case of David Walker, the chief of the Knobbers, is now in the superior court, and Wiley Matthews, who escaped from the Ozark jail a few days ago, is still at large.

The Globe.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The new morning paper, the Globe, will begin its existence to-morrow morning. The first issue will be a twelve-page paper. The regular daily issue will be four pages. The business office of the paper is in the Keith & Perry building, and the editorial, composing and press rooms at 918 Walnut street. The Globe will be democratic in politics and will be a factor in bringing the Times to its proper sense of duty.

Vest's Territorial Court Bill.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—Senator Vest has succeeded in getting up for consideration his bill to establish United States courts in the Indian Territory. He has brought to the bill's support Senator Edmunds and believes now that the bill will pass.

Deaths.

Mrs. Anna Vandell, aged 63 years, died at 1613 Montgomery street at 10:45 last night. She will be buried at Green Ridge to-morrow. She leaves five children. Her husband died several years ago.

Mrs. Charles Hilday, a colored woman living at the corner of Morgan and Osage streets, died yesterday at 2 p. m. of consumption. The remains will be buried to-day.

A handsome complexion is one of the greatest charms a woman can possess. Pozzoni's Complexion Powder gives it.

Items of Interest Picked Up by "Bazoo" Detectives—Local Spikes.

A KANSAS KICKER.

Topeka, Kansas, Feb. 9.—Mr. Legate introduced a resolution yesterday setting forth that the receivers of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway had failed to establish the general offices of that company in Kansas, which is in violation of the laws of this state, which require every railroad corporation operating in Kansas to have general headquarters within the state. It calls the attention of the attorney-general to the violation of the law and directs him to use proper efforts to protect the interests of the state without unnecessary delay.

MISSOURI PACIFIC EXTENSION.

The construction of the Missouri Pacific branch from Wagner to Coffeyville, has begun, and the ninety miles of road will be completed within the next six months. This will give the Missouri Pacific a through line from Pueblo, Col., to Memphis, Tenn., and to the coast via the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia and the Georgia Pacific. Condemnation proceedings have been begun in this state, while the right of way through the Indian territory has been secured by act of congress.

EXIT HOPKINS.

New York, Feb. 9.—Amos Lawrence Hopkins has quit the service of Jay Gould. For years he has been one of Mr. Gould's closest business associates. He has been inured with interests of vast magnitude. He has rear-ended Mr. Gould in a multitude of big corporations. He sat in the office with him. In Wall street circles he has of late been recognized as practically Mr. Gould's other self. Since Washington E. Connor and Giovanni Morosini parted company with Mr. Gould Mr. Hopkins has seemed to be closer than anybody else to him save only two persons—Russell Sage and Mr. Gould's son, George—but it is not recently alone that Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Gould have had intimate relations. Back in the days when Mr. Gould's scheme for wrecking the Elevated railway corporations here was just budding Mr. Hopkins had so won the admiration and confidence of his employer that Mr. Gould obtained from his friend, Judge W. Brook, an order making Hopkins co-receiver of the elevated roads with Judge John F. Dillon. Mr. Hopkins, not much more than 25 years old then, was already so high in the Gould favor that he was vice president of the Wabash Railway company and conspicuous in the direction of other Gould corporations, controlling millions of capital. In later years Mr. Hopkins has been with Mr. Gould in the directory of nearly every corporation of consequence where Gould has figured. From every one of these he now resigns, all at once, quitting forthwith all official relations with them. In the list are great corporations like the Missouri Pacific Railway company, of which he was second vice president, St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern, Texas Pacific, Wabash, and the lately acquired St. Louis, Arkansas & Texas.

The removal of Mr. Hopkins from close business relations with Mr. Gould leaves George Gould virtually alone as the personal adviser and office associate of his father. Mr. Giovanni Morosini openly avows that he was forced away from Mr. Gould's confidence and association by George, whom he credits with looking askance upon every man who gets close to the elder Gould in a business way.

Mr. Hopkins has not yet moved out of the Missouri Pacific office. He will probably remain there for some days yet. Whatever the real state of his feelings toward Mr. Gould, it is thus evident that there is going to be no open display of wounds.

Gaston Meslier, General Passenger Agent of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, has sent out a neatly-bound pocket memorandum book, with adjustable block. The inside covers contain information of the through-cars service. The outer cover is adopted with a gilt design of the M. K. & T. train passing through the gateway of the southwest. It is a very creditable piece of advertising work.

The officials at Missouri Pacific headquarters here had no information Wednesday, of the retirement of Vice-president Hopkins at the New York headquarters. It was thought that probably Mr. Hopkins, having acquired wealth, had determined to throw off railroad official harness and take life quietly for the balance of his days. Friction in the New York officials, caused by the recent self-assertion of George Gould, may have something to do with it.
